

We are always looking for unconventional thinkers, who like to implement their expertise hands-on at international clients.

Support and consult together with us Global Player regarding exciting topics like Instant Payments, Blockchain and Cryptography. Innovative solutions, highly qualified experts and complex software have been distinguishing us with our customers for more than 20 years. Become part of our team today!

For our consulting team we are looking for a
JUNIOR BUSINESS ANALYST (m/f/d)

YOUR TASKS

- commitment to the project management of consulting projects relating to payment, SWIFT and information management
- part of the project management office (PMO)
- consulting services for our customers for the integration and development of complex solutions and applications together with an expert
- assistance in the creation of feasibility studies and concepts
- evaluation of complex process and application landscapes as well as comprehensive information

YOUR PROFILE

- successfully completed studies, preferably in business informatics, computer science, industrial engineering, mathematics, physics or business administration with focus on business informatics
- thorough and well-structured working method
- knowledge of software quality management, configuration as well as testing of application software
- knowledge of the financial industry area is of advantage
- strong customer orientation, good communication skills and creativity in finding solutions
- flexibility and project-related mobility
- fluently spoken and written English

OUR OFFER

- cooperation in customer projects from the beginning
- gradual increase of responsibility
- flexible working hours, performance-based pay and targeted training
- collegial and highly-professional team
- flat hierarchies and short communication paths

An internationally oriented field of activity, international customers as well as an attractive salary package are waiting for you. If you want to contribute to the success of our company in a friendly team, please send your application documents indicating your salary expectations and your earliest possible entry date via e-mail to Mrs. Astrid Bumberger, career@be-stf.de.